Creek Week Leads Durham Community in Caring for Waterways

Visit DurhamCreekWeek.org for Opportunities to Serve, Learn & Explore

DURHAM, N.C. – Residents interested in discovering and protecting Durham’s local waterways should mark their calendars now to celebrate Creek Week this month.

Creek Week, set for March 13-20, offers virtual and in-person activities to help people learn about and take care of Durham’s creeks, rivers, and lakes. Throughout the week, residents will have a chance to join litter cleanups, take virtual tours, and play Creek Week Bingo.

“Creek Week brings together community partners to focus attention on discovering and cleaning up local waterways,” said Tania Dautlick of Keep Durham Beautiful. “It’s inspiring when we come together to tackle the combined impact of litter and pollution.”

Creek Week has been celebrated in the third week of March each year in Durham since 2009, with 3,409 volunteers collecting 163,783 pounds of litter to date. For additional information, contact Laura Smith with the City’s Public Works Department at (919) 560-4326, ext. 30235 or by email.
